

CHILI, Richland Twp., SECTION 1

CHILI CEMETERY

Located at the west edge of Chili, Richland Township, Miami County, Indiana.

The oldest burying ground in Richland is the Chili Cemetery, where rest many of the pioneer settlers of the country. (Brant & Fuller, History of Miami County Indiana, 1887, p. 766.

The cemetery is divided into thirteen sections; the rows run north and south; rows are numbered from east to west; stones are read from north to south.

Readings were taken by Wendell C. Tombaugh in 1987.

FINLEY CEMETERY

Located at the corner of 975N and 650E, in Richland Township, Miami County, Indiana. It can be reached by crossing the field toward the east, then following the fence row south about one city block, where it can be found on the east side of the fence.

The rows run north and south, the stones are read from north to south, and the rows are numbered from west to east.

Readings were taken by Wendell C. Tombaugh and his son, John B. Tombaugh, in 1987.

COLE-SAYGER-GAGE/GUGE CEMETERY

Located in the northeast corner of Section 30 of Jefferson Township, Miami County, Indiana.

To reach this spot follow US-31 north of Mexico, Indiana, approximately one and one-half miles to 600N. Turn right (east) about one mile to the railroad track. Walk south along the track about 300-400 yards. At the end of the field on the west side and on a fence row is a big cement block, about 128' x 2' x 5', in which are embedded the stones.

COURTER, Jefferson Twp. SECTION 1

COURTER CEMETERY

The following information was the result of research by Lester H. Binnie, Ruth (Miller) (Kraning) Binnie and Mrs. Orval Burgess, as reported in Cook, Cemeteries of Miami County, Vol. 1.

The cemetery is located on north side of 550N between Meridian and 100E. It can be reached at a dwelling, which occupies the site of the former Church of the Brethren, then north on a lane to a farm gate into a pasture. The gate from the pasture into the cemetery is about 1,000 feet northeast of this point.

The cemetery occupies a ridgetop with very steep slopes on all except the south side. Sections 1 and 2 have received only minimum maintenance for several years, while Section 3 has had no maintenance for many years. The cemetery was used by both the Brethren and other early settlers. The last burial appears to have been in 1950. These inscriptions were copied from stones in March and April, 1986, by Lester H. Binnie and Ruth (Miller) (Kraning) Binnie, and the inscriptions from Section 3 were compared with records made earlier by Mrs. Orval Burgess, Winamac, Indiana.

BROWER CEMETERY

Located approximately 1/4 to 1/2 mile west of US-31 and north of 400N, on the old G. R. Kunse farm, owned by the late Harrison Griffith and occupied by Robert Click.

Cemetery is charmingly situated, but apparently visited only very rarely, though in reasonably good condition - long abandoned, but not at all wholly neglected.

Intelligent and cordial cooperation was given fieldworker by two public-spirited farmers of the vicinity: Messrs Ezra Musselman and Robert Click.

These records are the product of Mrs. Robert ?. Johnson, Chairman, and R. B. Whitsett, fieldworker, not dated, as appear in Cook, Cemeteries of Miami County, Vol. 2.

MOSS CEMETERY
(Pioneerday Burial Ground)

Located in Jefferson Township, Miami County, Indiana, on the old Moss farm, tenanted in May, 1947, when the following records were compiled by Walter Clemons.

This long-abandoned cemetery is less than two miles down the left-hand side of Eel River from the Mexico Bridge where old US-31 crosses the river. It is situated on the summit of a quite high spot of land, about one-quarter of a mile as the crow flies south-west of the large two-story brick home owned by Walter Comerford and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clemons. It is approximately one-half mile from the river, and immediately west of a two or three-foot wide tributary.

The following records were compiled on May 26, 1947, by Mrs. Audna Maus Johnson and Robert B. Whitsett, members of the Cemetery Research Committee of the L'Anguille Valley Memorial Association, Logansport, Indiana. Some assistance was furnished also by the parents of Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Maus. (Cook, Cemeteries of Miami County, Vol. 2)

MURDEN CEMETERY

On a farm in Jefferson Township, Miami County, Indiana, located on the banks of Eel river, two miles north-east of Mexico, Indiana, owned by W. H. Howes and tenanted by Mrs. Ruth See, is a small cemetery, beautifully situated on a hillside of the woodland pasture.

Only the body of one person is there now, the Murden family having moved their dead to one of the cemeteries in Peru, Indiana, with the exception of that one.

At first there was no marker, but one of the brothers finally did erect one and placed an iron fence around the grave. The fence, having rusted, is down, and the stone was down until Mr. Grover See, the farm tenant, re-erected it and mended the fence, but the mending did not last and the fence is again down.

Mr. and Mrs. Howes, owners of the farm, being very distant relatives of the Murden family, are hoping to locate a near relative who would reset the stone and place a new fence around it.

The information on this cemetery is taken from the undated notes of Evelyn Rader as found in Cook, Cemeteries of Miami County, Vol. 1)
